ISSUE VII: 1-2

PRESENTATION

This is a special issue of the journal "Transfer" entitled The reception of Italian literature during the Franco regime, which contains a number of unpublished articles aiming at the study of Italian-Spanish relations in the second half of the XXth. Century. These thirteen essays derive from the research conducted by their respective authors within the Research Project-10896 FFI2009 funded by the Spanish Government under my direction.

As the reader will see, the papers collected in this issue deal with the study of Italy's image and the reception of the Italian literature during the Franco regime, from a plurality of perspectives, and focusing on the translations of Italian authors carried out in Spain in this period (1939-1975), either in Spanish, Catalan, or Galician, and with regard of poetry, fiction, film, and theatre. In this sense, this special issue is a relevant critical contribution to the analysis of contemporary cultural relationships between both countries, deepening in line other recent scientific contributions of this research group on the field.
